As Many Chattanooga People Know

When the kidneys are weak or disordering, they fall behind in filtering the blood of poisons. As these poisons attack the nerves, the result is felt in spells of vertigo, just as drunkenness will make a man dizzy from the polsoning of alcohol. Dizziness, headache backache and irregularity of the kidney secretions are all signs of weak or disordered kidneys and should not be neglected. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the home-endorsed kidney remedy. Read this Chattanooga resident's state-

Mrs. M. C. Bell, 207 College St., says:

"I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know they are just as represented. My kidneys were weak and I felt dull and languid. Mornings I had nervous, dizzy headaches and my back ached as if it would break. The kidney action was irregular and my feet and ankles were swollen so I couldn't wear my shoes. I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon helped me. I have great faith in this remedy."

FAITHFUL COLORED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Hancock.

Nellie Teasley, Whose Kind Kind Deeds Brightened Many Lives, Is Dead.

Lives, Is Dead.

Nellie Teasley, colored, for nine years an attendant for Wann & Son, undertakers, is dead as the result of an attack of pneumonia. She passed away, Monday night at the servants' quarters of the funeral residence, 708 Georgia avenue, after an iliness of about a week.

Nellie was one of the best known colored women in Chattaneoga. Her good deeds were numerous. Her sympathetic nature manifested fiself almost every day in some act that brightened other lives. In many insances, where families were saddened by the death of a loved one and found themselves unable, because of circumstances, to purchase floral designs, Nellie's generous nature asserted liself and the flowers found their way to the humble caskets.

Dr. Gay Preaches Practical Sermon on Beginning of Christ's

Preaching. Rev. George A. Gay, paster of the Shinn Memorial church, last night de-

Shinn Memorial church, last night de-tivered a sermon on the subject of the beginning of the gospel of Jesus and ap-plied it to present-day living.

Rev. Gay took his text from Mark I.:1 and said in part:

"Everything must have a beginning, a commencement, and this applies as well to our spiritual evolution as to the de-velopment of the acorn. Christianity had had a beginning, and the good news of Jesus had a beginning, and it is about these beginnings that we are to speak tonight.

velopment of the acorn. Christianity had had a beginning, and the 'good news' of Jesus had a beginning, and it is about these beginnings that we are to speak tonight.

"The gospel of Jesus Christ began with a sense of need on the part of many people. They were spiritually hungry and thirsty: they were spiritually hungry and thirsty: they were spiritually hungry and thirsty: they were not satisged with existing rituals and ceremonies. They longed for a more vital religion. Individual relationships, social conditions, moral and religious life were all in need of refreshment, revitalization, revolution. Men and women like Zacharias, John the Baptia! Elizabeth and Mary, and the wise men generally, looked forward to the advent of a Savior, one who should bring cleaniliness, inspiration, healing and peace. And in answer to that deep longing of the spirit came the Christ.

"God never leaves man without leaders. Christ was the providential Savior of the world. Not only the Redeemer of the race for all time.

"Again, the gospel of Jesus began with the preparatory message of John. The nation was not ready for its Lord. Earnest souls seeking light waited patiently for the dawn, but multitudes stumbled on in darkness, unconscious of their needs. John's work was to acquaint these multitudes with their own needs, to reveal to them the evils of their lives, to call them to repentance and to bid them anticipate the coming of the Perfect One. And throngs gathered about him and were baptized by him, and under the spell of his flery message they looked for one mightier than he.

"The gospel of Jesus began with the preaching of Jesus. The expectant multitude, as a result of John's words, and his refusal to be acknowledged as the Christ, searched for the 'Anointed One,' und as they sought Him, lo, He came to them with a message of repentance and of grace.

"The gospel of Jesus began with the calling of the sick learners' were to walk with heir Master, learn of His ways, and perpetuate His influence.

He was endowed with a genial, sympathetic disposition, and his words of cheer and aunny smiles brought brightness into many lives.

Mr. Courtney was a member of the First Baptist church. He was a talented musician and played in the orchestra which furnished music for Y. M. C. A. "big meetings" that were held in the old Majestic theater.

HOME REMEDY FOR "FLU"

"Saved My Life," Says M. J. Robbins Who Recommends Poultice. How to conquer the "flu." Spanish or therwise, is a problem that is puzzling the brain of many a medical man as well as those followers of the ingenious home remedies, resorted to first, and sometimes last, whenever an epidemic gains away. Giving as his recommendation the testimonial that it saved his life when he was almost a hopeless victim of grippe or influenza twenty-seven years ago, M. J. Robbins, a Chattanoogan, has modestly submitted the following remedy to The News. "I have known it to prove effective when all other treatment has failed," is Mr. Robbins' declaration, "Possibly if you would publish it in The News it might be the means of saving somebody's life." His contribution follows:

"Twenty-seven years ago I was hovering between life and death with lagrippe. Doctors had done all that was possible to do for me. My wife took the case in hand and used the old-time treatment:

"Slice several onions, put small amount of lard in hot stewpan and mix; add a little hot water. Simmer or boil; then thicken with corn meal, just enough to bind it to spread on linen; simmer a few minutes. Spread between two thin linen or domestic cloths, large enough to cover chest; also place one between shoulder blades. Apply hot. This will draw out many small pocks of poison, watery matter. Use olive oil on the parts after removing poultice and then open the pocks, "I am sure this treatment saved my life and it has saved many lives in years gone by."
